- * Member, Society for Psychical Research
- * Renowned Psychic Investigator
- * Member, Scottish Society for Psychic Research
- * Member, Edinburgh College of Parapsychology.

Ann Treherne comes from a corporate background in banking and finance, latterly being CEO of a subsidiary company of National Australia Bank—a multi-national company and one of the largest banks in the world.

Back in 1996, she left the corporate world, having encountered premonitions which she states as being ‘dramatic and traumatic’, since they later came true! This was her ‘wake-up call’ which caused her to seek out answers and ultimately to give up her job to become a Psychic Investigator and to concentrate on her psychic and mediumistic development.

Now a Medium in her own right, Ann has worked with some of the best-known names in the industry, including James Van Praagh, Tony Stockwell and of course, Gordon Smith. Although she has often worked abroad, Ann comes from Edinburgh, the birthplace and hometown of Arthur Conan Doyle and is Chair of The Centre which bears his name, where she hosts events from only the very best mediums worldwide.

Like Arthur, Ann is a Psychic Investigator and long-standing member of The Scottish Society for Psychical Research. As well as tutoring in Meditation, Psychic and Mediumistic Development, she also trains Psychic Investigators and Researchers. In her no nonsense approach, she advocates investigation via scientific and analytic means and believes that some of the psychic phenomena that has been witnessed in more recent years, if subject to testimony by independent witnesses, can provide evidence of the continuance of the human personality after death.

As a Performer at The Edinburgh International Festival Fringe, Ann has been awarded the Laurel-Leaf Rosette by The Fringe organisation following her fourth successful year of sell-out shows at this – The Biggest Arts Festival in The World.

Is it just coincidence then, that she was born just south of Edinburgh near the village made famous by Dan Brown’s, ‘Da Vinci Code’ – Roslin, where she went to school and would play in the famous chapel!

Ann is currently writing a book about her experiences and when not directing operations at The Sir Arthur Conan Doyle Centre, she travels nationally and internationally giving talks and running training courses on Mediumship, Psychic Investigations, and of course, on Arthur Conan Doyle.
