Many therapists who practise 'energy' therapies say they often find it hard to explain the concept of energy to their clients. Telling a client that their energy feels 'smoother', 'less congested', or is 'flowing better' after treatment doesn't always work. This may be because these descriptions are dependent on the subjective experience of the therapist.

Many users of our biofield imaging software – Biofield Reader(BFR) and Biofield Imager(BFI) have said that this process is now much easier as they can show scans taken 'before' and 'after' therapy which clearly show the client where they are more balanced - as well as areas that will need more treatment.

Many people report that biofield imaging scans give them visual re-inforcement of how they feel after therapy. After treatment the woman pictured below, reported relief of symptoms i.e. less lower back pain and her neck felt relaxed and much less painful. You can see that there is more balanced green colour in these areas after treatment.

She was very pleased to see that the improvements she felt physically were reflected in the scan.

Researchers and therapists have found that when people feel well this will be reflected in a more balanced field which shows lots of green and also the colours of vitality, e.g. yellow and orange. If someone is stressed, or has a lot of tension in their body, then more red 'congested' pools of light and irregular patterns of light on and around the body are seen.

Once an initial scan has been recorded and therapy commenced, subsequent scans often show less red and an increase in green/yellow/orange as people feel better. The patterns, e.g. shapes of chakras and energy flow lines, have been seen to also improve. Seeing is believing and this visual confirmation can be very important to aid progress towards well-being and help morale.

Changes towards more balanced colours and patterns have been seen by some therapists after therapy, rest and relaxation, switching to a more healthy diet etc.

With BFR and BFI the therapist is able to provide scans and supply a detailed report for each client. BFI has a quantitative bar chart and generates its own report. See <https://www.biofieldimaging.com/biofield-imager.html>

Biofield Reader Report

Your clients can take their Report away with them to keep as a record . This enables them to see their progress over a course of treatment – as well as to have something to be able to show their friends.
